

Resilience in the Workplace

How to mitigate your risks

PRIMA ET PETITES POISSONS ROUGES

Resilience in companies, prevention is the key to continuity.

As part of the National Resilience Strategy, the ITM supports companies in anticipating and preventing risks. Resilience depends on the preparedness, adaptability and cooperation of all stakeholders. A resilient company protects its employees and ensures the continuity of its activities. It knows how to deal with crises, adapt to change and maintain its collective commitment. In the field of health and safety at work, the ITM helps to improve working conditions, strengthen employee protection and promote business continuity and performance, whilst contributing to a more resilient economy and society.
